

A photograph of a smiling man with glasses and a blue sweater hugging two young children, a boy and a girl, in a doorway. The man is wearing a blue sweater over a checkered shirt. The boy is wearing a blue and white shirt, and the girl is wearing a light blue shirt. They are standing in front of a dark wooden door with a green wreath. To the left of the door is a wooden console table with a large glass jar, a vase of greenery, and a candle. A large mirror is on the wall above the table. The background shows a bright, sunny day outside the door.
